- Cllr Morris had attended the fundraising workshop organised by Cadwyn Clwyd at Naylor Leyland Institute on 9th November where it was generally agreed that although a lot of efforts had been put over the years into community needs surveys a lot seemed to have been put on the shelf and the residents needs and aspirations had not been met probably for very valid reasons – it was suggested that maybe in future results of community needs surveys be fed to a central hub to see what were the obstacles to delivering the results of the surveys and assist with delivery.
