5.Chairmans Report

'Fellow Councillors may I begin by thanking you all for your regular attendances and support for the community during the last year.

We have covered many issues affecting the Community during the last twelve months .We have not increased the precept and we have decided to paint all the play equipment which was passed as low risk at the last inspection.

Highfield Park have brightened up the bus shelter at Llangwyfan with their mosaic work and we are very grateful to them for their support.

The police report that we are in a low crime area through there have been one or two incidents of thefts locally.

The new LSP will be with us soon and will highlight area of development in the area and we look forward to the consultation – we are in need of new blood in the area.

The Church Square properties remain an eyesore but as they are in private hands it is difficult to make progress there.

The Historical Society produced an excellent book on WW12 and added names to the War Memorial – we appreciate all the work which has gone into this project.

The Christmas tree team worked hard to give us all sparkle over the festive season and we are most grateful to them all.

Unfortunately we were not able to resurrect the youth club but we are always open to offers of help.

The stocks in Llangwyfan are in place again thanks to Elwyn Evans a reminder of times long past.

Sadly we lost our cleaner last year, she did an excellent job however we are fortunate to have a replacement in Helen Wilson Jones who keeps the cocoa rooms very neat clean and tidy.

Our finances are in good order thanks to our most efficient Clerk who is always willing to go the extra mile .

I am very conscious of the fact that we pull together well as a team which makes the work of the council very stable and easy to manage.

Thank you to our Vice Chairman Gwilym Evans who is always here to offer advice when needed.

Thank you to you all – we look forward to another productive year when hopefully we can come up with projects which will benefit our much loved communituy.

The Llais continues to flourish - a sell out every month – we would really like more help especially co ordinators to ease the load – Anwen Davies must be congratulated on her work for us'
